Panthers make history with first night game at Hurd

Mark Hannable '10 Staff Writer

On Thursday September 17th at 7 pm, the Panther Football Team will make history when they host Melrose at the first ever night game at Hurd Stadium.

The idea came to life when Athletic Director Mr. Jim Coffey and several others contacted an Everett company and were able to rent out construction lights for the night.

When Mr. Coffey was a student at Winthrop High School, they played under construction lights, and the game drew such a crowd that they had to get permanent lights for their field.

Beverly should not get their hopes up for permanent lights, however. For now, it's just a one-time deal and a chance for the community to come together for one night.

For a player, the hype is obvious and is the topic of almost every conversation, and for a fan it's almost identical. Alumni, parents, family, friends, and students all realize the importance of this game. Mr. Coffey hopes that the crowd will match the size of a Thanksgiving game.

The team will practice at Hurd under the lights on Tuesday and Wednesday nights to get used to playing at night, and the lights will be adjusted if needed.

On Thursday, the Panthers' nerves will be out because it's the first game of the season and the much-hyped first night game at Hurd, but in reality it's just another game.

BHS Welcomes a New English Teacher, Mr. Karvouniaris

As new as the incoming freshmen this year, Beverly High School opens its doors to one Will Karvouniaris; however, this wasn't the first time Mr. Karvouniaris has been to this school, having graduated from here in 2005.

Fresh out of high school, Karvouniaris moved on to Quinnipiac University to get his bachelors in English. He is currently getting a masters degree in English at Boston College, as well as in education at Gordon College. So it is safe to say he will be a great and qualified teacher here.

Karvouniaris says he loves it here at BHS. His kids are great ; he gets helpful advice from some of the more experienced staff, and he is comfortable in his new room, A209 , which is Mr. Flanders old room. He's spruced the place up, and it looks great. From what we saw, his classes are large. He teaches CP2 and Honors, for 9th and 10th grade students.

Aside from his teaching career, Karvouniaris works with the Boston Red Sox Foundation, which is basically the philanthropic arm of the team. Karvouniaris and the foundation do team charity. Daily 50/50 raffles and occasional poker tournaments are just some examples. There are many volunteers who help, as well. When asked about it, he stated that the job was lots of fun and that it was nice to see the players helping out.

Overall, Mr. Will Karvouniaris is having fun teaching English at BHS, and he is a great new addition to the school.

Class of 2013 Survey

If you could change one thing about Beverly High School what would it be?

Leah Horrigan '13

Make the rooms more colorful. Things are too dull; they all look the same.

Harry Brown '13

The pizza is good quality! It should come in a box.

Diana Kelly '13

The school should be more freshman-friendly. "Boys Room" and "Girls Room" should be added to the bathrooms.

Sophia Maetin '13

There should be a longer lunch.

Annah Coddington '13

There should be moving walkways in the halls like at airports.
